Our Goals

Our goal is to help foster a world of less political and social divide by trying to bridge what we feel is the missing element in today's society - a deep understanding of the views held by those around you.

Only through understanding what someone else believes can you fully appreciate their views and begin to debate them in a charitable and open manner.

Simply screaming "Nazi" or "Communist" at those who belong to a different political affiliation doesn't help anyone. Let us know what you think using the links below.

Our Mission

Our mission is simple: to provide all political perspectives a platform to openly and honestly discuss their views in a free and charitable setting.

There is only one thing we ask from our contributors and readers and that is to be sincere in their approach and articulation. What sincerity means to us is multifaceted:

- A contributor must be honest with themselves and the audience
- A contributor must be charitable in their debate tactics and never attempt 'gotcha' moments
- A contributor must operate in good-faith and be respectful of those they disagree with
